ELI PIGOT LYNCHED.

PAYS THE PENALTY OF HIS BRUTAL CRIME AT THE HANDS OF A MOB.

The Prisoner Forcibly Taken from the Sheriff and Soldiers and Shot to Death on Streets of Brookhaven.

No Member of the Mob or Soldier Seriously Injured.

The Special Term of Circuit Court Shortest on Record.

Special to the "Times-Democrat,"
Brookhaven, Miss., Feb. 10.—When Judge Wilkinson called the special term of the Lincoln County Circuit Court to order at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, for which that special term was ordered had already been disposed of in the regular session. In his place took his seat before the court, after rapping to order the crowd had fully filled the room, and said:

"There is no business to come before the court for review which you understand it is therefore adjourned for the term. Jurors and witness who were summoned to serve at this term will be sent to the clerk's office to receive their pay, claim their pay, and go to the clerk, claim their attendance and receive their pay."

This was the last of the term.

After the adjournment of the term, the court was in session for one hour and a half before the time set to adjourn.

El Piogot, the negro charged with assault on Miss Katie Williams, a delicate young woman, who had been taken into custody on Dec. 27, had been taken from the sheriff's office to the jail, and was held over by the Governor, shut to a cell, and then swung to an electric light post, and then to a tree, and still another ran up to him, and struck him with a large hammer, and struck his skull.

Among the very last of the mob, who had been hunting the negro from a revolver into the prostrate and lifeless body, was one who had sufficiently recovered from the stunning blow he had received, to save the life of this man, who was doomed beyond a doubt, if not, indeed, to death.

A member of the court said: "The responsibility for the fall of the troops to fire on the mob rests with the Sheriff, J. W. Greer, and two deputies of the Sheriff's Guard, accompanied by Adjutant General Fridge and under the orders of Governor Noel." The "Times-Democrat" and "Mississippi Journal," of Brookhaven, Capt. J. C. McCallum, and the "Daily Leader," of the same city, reported that the negro was shot in the head, and was killed by a bullet through the heart.

Except for their frenzy to get possession of the negro, and the fact that he was dead, the mob was entirely sober and behaved.

They may be a few minor errors or omissions, but the essential facts and details are covered in these reports, published in to-day's papers.

In Saturday's issue of The Leader we will publish the official reports on the lynching made by Major G. W. F. Fridge, Adjutant General Fridge, and with the comments of Gov. Noel. When the news was transmitted to him, the present, all editorial comment is reserved.

El Piogot's relatives did not claim his body and it was buried in the potter's field on the county farm. The negroes of Brookhaven, objected to its being placed in their cemetery.

Sergent Leslie Orme, the Jackson, Miss., negro who was knocked down and buried up here, has been able to sit again, says the Clarion-Ledger.

It will dawn to posterity as the Bloodiest Battle of Brookhaven.

We recently mailed statements to our delinquent subscribers, and they have responded with remittances. There are still a great many in arrears, and we hope that the weekly newspaper being sent through mail to persons in arrears will bring them to reason, and make a start to their payment.

When we arrived here a few minutes before the train from Jackson, we saw the negroes who were already drawn up in line and couped up in their minds that the negro might not be allowed to take in charge.

When we reached the station, the negro at all hazards forced the gate to reach the jail and made a start to his work.

The first onslaught by the mob was made before the negro had even started to work.

The mob here secured permission to enter the jail, and was cut two or three times, given several blows on the head, and was fairly alighted from the train. Mrs. D. Coln's luncheon on Saturday afternoon, given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Phifer, of the College, was a charming luncheon. The handsome table was unusually attractive with numerous diamonds and gold, vase of crystal and silver. Corseage bouquets of viollets and tulips, and bouquets of carnations were the various vases. A menu of seven courses was served.

The W. A. held its second delightful social evening with Mrs. M. T. Flood as hostess, on Friday evening. There were four tables, all presented in the active pursuit of pleasure and diversion throughout the evening. The fortunate illness of the hostess was regretted by all present, and was also deeply felt in the hearty exuberance afforded by the young people. Delicious sandwiches and chocolate were served.

The innocent bystander was not visible—at least he didn't get hit as usual.
