The Fireman's Parade.

Lynch Law in A. A. Co.

LOCAL NEWS OF THE DAY

The Firemen's Parade and Thanksgiving Day in Annapolis.

Yesterday was a gala day in Annapolis, all the places of business being closed at 10 o'clock, and there was a general suspension of all official business at the State departments, no one being seen at their post of duty except that ever faithful and venerable servant of the State's Treasury—Wm. Canfield, who was never known, in his many years of service to absent himself from his official post—even on a holiday—except when prevented by sickness. Early in the morning the streets were alive with people, and by 10 o'clock Main street, in the neighborhood of Market Space and the city dock, was crowded with spectators who had assembled to witness the second trial of the new steam fire engine. The fire companies had gathered in full force with reels and hose and engines all eager to deluge the city with the power of the steam fire engine which had been brought out for a second trial. In two minutes after the fire had been started, 10 pounds of steam was made in three minutes 20 pounds, and in 6 minutes the engine was throwing a strong stream and continued to increase in power and velocity until the highest building in the neighborhood, 200 yards off had been covered. She first played the single stream, then the double and finally four streams were pouring forth at one and the same time, all of equal power. This was kept up for some time, when the length of the hose was increased, and the water was thrown with great force several blocks from the engine. After a thorough and satisfactory test at the dock, the engine was taken to the plug corner Maryland Hotel and Main street, where thorough test was made. Here also, she did her work to perfection, throwing stream after stream over the tops of the tallest houses, fully satisfying the city officials that the engine was capable of doing all that was claimed for her. The test lasted about three hours. The engine during the time was managed by superintendent Bosch, of Utica, N.Y. with Mr. Weisser as engineer, in the presence of Mayor Claude and the city commissioners, who were perfectly satisfied with the result. In the afternoon all the fire companies turned out with the fire apparatus, headed by the Annapolis Cornet Band, the new engine being drawn by horses, followed by the reels of the Independent and Rescue Hose Companies, the members of each being attired in fireman's dress, presenting altogether a fine appearance, and eliciting the admiration of the spectators. Annapolitans took no notice at night feeling more secure in their person and property, should a fire break out in our midst. We congratulate our city officials upon procuring this long-needed security against fire in our midst, thus relieving our city, from that dependence it has so long been under, as well as those whose efforts have been instrumental in bringing about this new era of things in the history of our city.

At night a fireman's ball, under the auspices of Independent Fire Company, No. 2, closed the festivities of the day.

At an official meeting of the Board to day the steam fire engine was accepted, and $1,000 paid of the $3,300.

Arrival of Oyster Steamer Governor Thomas.

The new oyster steamer Governor P. F. Thomas, the companion of the McLane, built by order of the Legislature for the oyster navy by Nease and Levy of Philadelphia, arrived here Wednesday evening in charge of an engineer of the builders, and was formally received by the State officials today. After the steamer had been turned over to the State, Commander Waddell immediately placed her in charge of a watchman until she is commissioned, which is expected will be done at the Board of Public Works to day. The Thomas is constructed in the same manner as the McLane, except that she has one stateroom less, the additional space being given to the cabin. Both steamers were built under a guarantee to make fourteen miles an hour. At the test the Thomas easily made fifteen against strong head winds. The committee representing the State were perfectly satisfied with the test of speed, and Chief Engineer Farmer, U.S.N., who was present, examined the machinery and found it in good order. The Thomas left Philadelphia Tuesday night at 7 o'clock, and made stops at Chesapeake and Delaware Cities, arriving here at a quarter past four the next day. Among her passengers were State Comptroller Turner and Hon. Joseph E. Seth, Col. J. M. Lowe, George E. Haddaway, Wilfred Bateman, W. M. Merrick, H. J. Hopkins and Edwin W. Hopkins, of Talbot county. In coming to Annapolis the journal of the engine became overheated, causing the steamer to lose time and necessitating slight repairs. A similar accident occurred to the McLane on her first trip.

At a meeting of the Board of Public Works today the new steamer was formally received, and Capt. F. Louis Griffith, of Anne Arundel, appointed commander of the Thomas, and James Turner, of Wyomissing, commander of the steamer Gov. Hamilton

Thanksgiving Services.

According to announcement, religious services were held yesterday in Wesley Chapel M. E. Church, the Presbyterian and the First M. E. Church congregations uniting. An earnest and impressive sermon was delivered by the Rev. W. G. Herbert, from Psalms 105-1: "Oh, give thanks unto the Lord; call upon his name, make known his deeds among the people." He showed at some length how God has blessed his people through all ages, and how he had blessed us as a nation, and how greatful we should be to Him for the many blessings we are daily receiving as a nation, as a community, and as individuals. The first observance of thanksgiving he said dates back to the old Puritan times of New England, the formal proclamation being in 1623. It was many years peculiarly a puritan institution, although General Washington recommended on different occasions that a special day of thanksgiving be observed for some national blessing. President Madison, when peace was declared, after the war of 1812, issued a thanksgiving proclamation. The national thanksgiving dating from 1863, when President Lincoln issued his proclamation, designating the last Thursday in November, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, which has been yearly observed ever since. Services were also held in the other churches, all of which were well attended.

Broke His Collar Bone.

During the game of foot ball at the Academy yesterday between the John Hopkins team and the Cadets, Mr. Martin of the Hopkins team fell and broke his collar bone. He was lying in the position of half-back, and was rushing toward the Academy goal when one of the cadets endeavored to collar him and dislodge the ball, which he held in his hand. Both fell to the ground, Mr. Martin receiving a fracture of his collar bone. He was conveyed to the cadet quarters and received medical attention. Mr. Martin left in the noon train for Baltimore. Though his injuries are painful they are not thought to be serious. None of the cadets were injured.

Cat With a Knife.

Two colored boys named respectively George Collins and George Miller, got into a difficulty last night, which resulted in Miller receiving a severe cut about the head and on the hand with a knife, inflicted by Collins. The wounded boy was taken to a physician for treatment. A warrant was issued for Collins' arrest.

Lynching a Notorious Robber.

George Briscoe, a notorious robber, is reported to have been lynched on Wednesday night by a party of masked men at New Bridge, in the Third district of this county. Briscoe had been arrested in Baltimore on a warrant issued by Justice Jacobs of the Third district, charging him with robbing the residence of George Schenck, on the 18th of November, and was being conveyed to the Annapolis jail when the constable was met by a party of masked men, near New Bridge and the prisoner taken from him by force and lynched on the spot. The cause assigned for the lynching was the frequent robberies that have occurred in the neighborhood of Stony Creek recently and the belief that Briscoe was the robber. The events which led to the tragedy form a chapter of interesting reading. Last spring Dr. Lynch's house was entered and robbed of $700. Suspicion pointed to Briscoe, but nothing came of it. There were other petty robberies in the neighborhood last summer. They grew so frequent that ladies were afraid to remain in their homes after nightfall without the men of their families staying home.

A general feeling of insecurity ensued. This was heightened by the robbery of J. C. Armiger's dwelling about four weeks ago. The thief secured by the operation $150 in money. Shortly afterwards Addison Johnson's store was broken open and robbed of money. Richard Phelps' house was entered one night, but the burglar was seen by Mrs. Phelps, who gave the alarm and he made good his escape. After this a vigilance committee visited the dwelling of Briscoe to warn him to leave the county. Other robberies not mentioned above were constantly taking place in the neighborhood; and the people became so incensed against Briscoe, that they determined to resort to the summary mode of disposing of so dangerous a character, by hanging.

Conformation of the report of the lynching of George Briscoe, reached here to-day through the finding of the coroner's jury in the case. Justices Thomas S. Johnson and Thos. Boone held the inquest and sent the report to day to the sheriff. The finding of the jury is that Briscoe came to his death by strangulation from hanging at the hands of parties to the jurors unknown.

The Day at the Naval Academy.

Large crowds gathered at the Naval Academy to witness the exercises there which were of a very interesting nature. The most exciting feature of the occasion was the game of foot ball between the John's Hopkins University team and the Naval Cadets, resulting in favor of the latter team, after a severe contest. The game began at 10:25 o'clock, and for one hour and a half, with ten minutes intermission between the innings, a thousand persons, including many ladies, looked on with evident interest, though perhaps not one-fifth of those present were familiar enough with the game to explain the difference between securing a goal and counting a touch-down. Their interest, however, never flagged, and they seemed to thoroughly enjoy the rough and tumble exhibition of muscular strength and alertness. In the other games, Cadet Jackson won the wheelbarrow race, Cadet Foust the sand race, Cadet Slocum and Churchill the three-legged race, Cadet West the sack race, Cadet Beckwith the 100 yards dash, and the second and fourth divisions the tug-of-war. The greased pig was caught by Cadet Harris, after an exciting chase.

The Lynching of Geo. Briscoe ### NAVAL NOTES.

The Churches To-Morrow!

The Lynching of Briscoe.

The lynching of George Briscoe, colored, in the Third district, on Wednesday morning last, by a party of masked men, of which particulars were given in the CAPITAL of yesterday, may be condemned by some, yet under all the circumstances, it was, perhaps, the only way to rid a community of so desperate a character as this negro had proved himself to be.

He had been ordered by the residents of the neighborhood to take his departure or abide the consequences, but he defied their threats, and persisted in making his presence a terror to the female inhabitants of the neighborhood and a feeling of general insecurity among the inhabitants of that section.

While we do not approve of lynch law, yet there are some instances in which it is justifiable. Justice Thos. S. Jacobs, before whom Briscoe had the bearing Wednesday afternoon which resulted in his commitment to the Annapolis jail, stated that Briscoe's manner and language were insulating to himself and all who were present. The man was full of bravado at all times. Justice Jacobs explained to him that he was not being tried for burglary, but simple having a hearing preliminary to his appearance at a higher court, but the man objected to the magistrate's proceedings and to Deputy Sheriffs Grafton Booms and Tip Wells as escorts to Annapolis. It was necessary to bind him in order to get him safely to jail. This was done with leather hame strings. The deputies left Jas-coville with their prisoner at 7:30 p.m. They had passed over New Bridge, which spans the head of Magoty river, and had gotten about half way up the hill, on the south side, when more than a score of men swarmed into the road from the woods and stopped its team. "He was commanded to leave the carriage and make quick time from the neighborhood. Seeing that he hesitated, the lynchers, all of whom were masked, told him he would certainly come to grief if he resisted. Wells was unmercifully dragged out of the carriage and told to "git." Boons then alighted and left the place. During the brief time the above events were transpiring, Briscoe sat calm and unmoved. One of the lynchers told him: "You're an innocent looking son of a gun, ain't you?"

"I don't know whether I am or not," replied he.

These were the last and only words Boons heard Briscoe utter.

This is the second case of lynching that has occurred in Anne Arundel County within the past ten years, the former case being that of a colored man named Simms, who was taken from jail at night by a party of masked men and "hanged to a tree near Bear's Gap, about half a mile from town." Simms was committed to jail for an assault on a white girl in the Fourth district, and was awaiting trial.

Communicated.]

Mr. Editor.—In your very excellent report of the Firemen's Parade, yesterday afternoon, will you make creditable affairs throughout, one which showed awakened interest in the mind and heart of every Annapolitan feelings of pride and satisfaction;

there is one grave omission (unintentional), I am satisfied on your part.) It is this: no mention is made of the Juvenile Company whose belts bore the inscription of "Victory" No. 3.

They most certainly deserve some commendation. It was remarked by many, that they presented a very neat, and even imposing appearance.

They acquitted themselves like men.

Although they brought up the rear, yet did not in the least destroy the fine impression made, by the advance guard, but on the other hand, added to it. Mr. Editor, I like yourself, was once a boy, and when we performed some feat worthy of praise,

how badly we felt, if the praise was not bestowed. Please insert this in the columns of your valuable paper,

and pardon my presumption, in calling your attention to the above facts.

And to stimulate the rising generation to worthy deeds.

Not a Boy, But a Man.

Resigned His Position.

Mr. Peter Stevens, for the past year clerk in the Comptroller's office

under Comptroller Turner, has rendered his resignation to that official,

to take effect on the 1st, and leaves

his to-day for Easton, Talbot county, his former place of residence. Since

Mr. Stevens' residence in Annapolis, he has made many warm friends by his reserved and gentlemanly de-manner toward all with whom he came in contact, who will regret to hear of his departure from our midst.

He was a faithful and efficient clerk, and has been associated with the present comptroller in clerical duties

for many years, which makes his services valuable in the office he has vacated. We wish him success in whatever he undertakes.

To Be Discontinued.

The Baltimore Wrecking Company

came here on Thursday and succeeded in raising the steam-tug J. A. McDonald, which was burned to the water's edge here some weeks ago and sunk

at the sea wall of the Naval Academy.

The tug was taken to Baltimore and will be rebuilt. Several parties who had bills against the tug, will work on her to compensate to their shorlty after the accident. It is expected to be launched in about two weeks.

Mr. Stockett, here yesterday, but but was told by the official that the tug could only hold good against the vessel for seamen's wages and similar liabilities.
